

my trip to The Rep

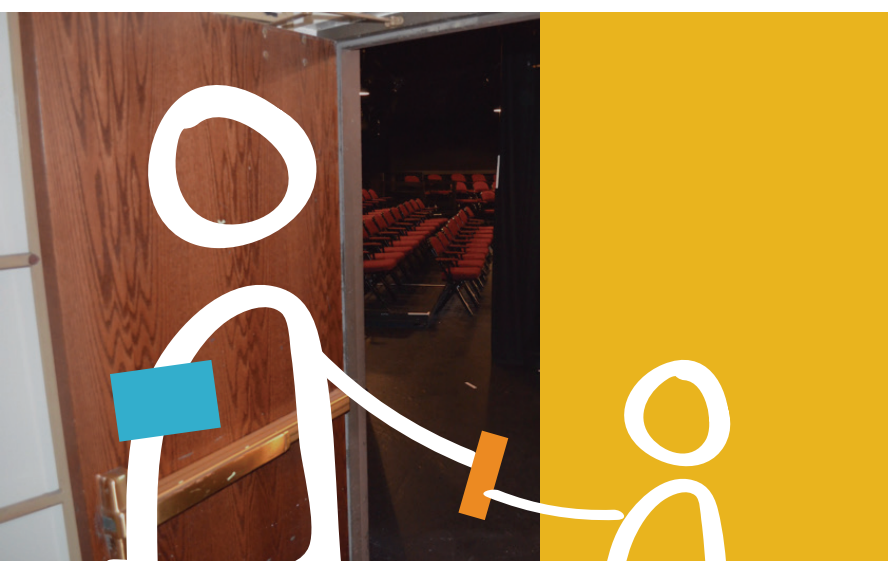

The
Rep
.....
REPERTORY
THEATRE
ST. LOUIS

On SATURDAY, APRIL 7TH, I will go to
The Rep and see a play called THE COUNTRY
MOUSE AND THE CITY MOUSE.

When I get to the theatre, I may have to stand in line for my ticket.

When I have my ticket, I will walk through the lobby of the theatre and down the stairs to get to the studio theatre where the play will be performed.

A person with a name tag will be there to take my ticket.

If anyone in my group can't use stairs, we will walk out the lobby and go down the sidewalk to a special door. A person with a name tag will be there to take my ticket and show us the way to the theatre.

When I enter the Studio Theatre, I can find my seat. Another person with a name tag called an usher will be there to help me. The usher will also help me with any questions I have. Other people will be coming in to find their seats. There will be an area that has tape on the floor and stop signs. The area behind the tape and stop signs is for actors only so they can do the play.

Featured: Lana Dvorak, Jeanitta Perkins, Aaron Orion Baker and Charlie Barron. Photo by: Eric Woolsey.

When the play The Country Mouse and the City Mouse begins, lights will get a little brighter on the area for the actors but the lights where I am sitting will stay low. A person from The Rep will come out and talk to us about how to be a good audience. We can laugh at things that are funny and clap for songs that we like. When talking is finished, the play will start.

The actors will come onto the stage area and move, talk and sing to tell us the story. Some of the actors will be dressed like animals and they will jump around like the animals they are pretending to be. One character will run around and wave his hands when pretends to be stung by a bee. During the play there will be music and talking through a speaker but it will not be loud.

If I need a break from watching the play, The Country Mouse and the City Mouse, there are two things I can do:

- 1 An usher can help me find the pacing lane where I can walk back and forth. I will still be able to watch the actors on stage if I am walking in the pacing lane.
- 2 If I need more space, the usher can help me find the fidget room.

The Fidget Room

When the show is over I can clap for the actors.
We will leave the theatre the same way we came in.

If I want to meet the actors or touch their costumes they will be in the lobby on my way out. If I ask, I can have their autograph or have the person who comes with me take my picture with them.

the end

Thank you for planning a trip to The Rep!
We're so excited to meet you!

